

Zebrafish

Zebrafish are tiny fish that help us understand development. They're involved in studies to identify what individual genes do. Zebrafish are one of a handful of species that have been studied in space. They also have the amazing natural ability to heal their own hearts, if damaged.